

Fukuoka International Environmental Management Program (Young Administrative Officials)

Background

In Asian regions there have arisen grave environmental issues such as air pollution, water contamination, etc. along with rapid economic growth and the like.

Based on such a situation, Fukuoka Prefectural Government has started the Fukuoka International Environmental Management Program for upper level administrative officials dealing with the environmental measures in the Asian regions in 2006. The program aims to form networks with Asia in the environmental field while contributing to the realization of a sound material-cycle society in Asia.

In conjunction with the program for those upper level administrative officials, we have planned to start another technical cooperation program for young administrative officials to build a layered training system, aiming at further achievement of the project purpose while raising the effect of both programs.
