Japan International
Cooperation Agency (JICA)

The Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) is the organization in charge of implementing Japan's Official Development Assistance (ODA). JICA has representative offices in more than 90 locations and is implementing activities in over 150 countries. JICA has merged with the Overseas Economic Cooperation Operations of Japan Bank for International Cooperation (JBIC) and received a part of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs' Grant Aid cooperation scheme on October 1, 2008. This gave JICA the ability to provide assistance more effectively and efficiently through comprehensive development assistance, using all of Japan's aid schemes, namely technical cooperation, loan assistance, and grant aid.

This pamphlet summarizes the results of the "Indonesia's Development and JICA's Cooperation." The survey this document is based upon was conducted by a consortium of International Development Center of Japan (IDCI) and Nippon Koei Co., Ltd.. The report can be downloaded from the JICA Library Portal Site.
