I. Concept

The Main Theme

“Criminal Justice Issues Regarding Youth Involved in Terrorism”

Background

Since the terrorist attacks in the United States on September 11, 2001, the international community has witnessed the adoption of a series of UN resolutions and Security Council resolutions on counter-terrorism, as well as Leader’s Declarations from the G7. In addition, frameworks for international cooperation, such as the Global Counterterrorism Forum (GCTF), have been established. Despite these efforts, addressing the evolving forms of terrorism presents significant challenges due to the rapid adaptation of terrorists to technological advancements and global trends.

One notable example is so-called “home-grown terrorism,” whereby individuals who are radicalized through online propaganda or local extremist groups without direct foreign influence carry out attacks targeting fellow citizens. This presents a serious challenge for law enforcement and intelligence agencies because these individuals are often integrated into society, making them harder to detect. Moreover, terrorist groups are using tools such as the Internet and social media to recruit youth, making them sympathetic to the ideology of the terrorist groups. This is also a serious threat in recent years, and there have been an increasing number of instances where these youth participate in terrorist attacks.

In this regard, the Kyoto Declaration adopted in 2021 calls for “Ensur[ing] more effective actions against terrorism in all its forms and manifestations wherever and by whomsoever committed, in particular investigations and prosecutions supported by credible and verifiable information and evidence”<sup>1</sup>. This paragraph underlines the importance of effective investigation and prosecution of terrorist group members, especially those in leadership positions. In many cases, youth may be coerced or manipulated into joining terrorist groups and activities and play various roles as expendable pieces of the organization including by spreading propaganda, soliciting and recruiting fellow youth, and participating directly in planning and executing attacks. In order to dismantle terrorist groups that exploit youth, it is critical to obtain credible testimony and evidence from such youth to demonstrate organizational structure, establish chain of command and convict those who are responsible for terrorist activities.

At the same time, providing support for the rehabilitation and reintegration of youth who have been involved in terrorist activities is also one of the urgent issues that the international community needs to address. In doing so, it is essential to have a comprehensive understanding of the multiple aspects which led them to join terrorist groups and engage in terrorist activities, including motivations, opportunities and their living environment. In this regard, appropriate interventions by relevant institutions and society which support the rehabilitation and reintegration of youth are required. Moreover, in case of institutional treatment, it is important to ensure that correctional facilities do not serve as incubators for radicalism and terrorism, a place for radicalization and establishing networks.

Against this background, this training program will focus on

- (a) seeking ways to obtain credible evidence from youth involved in terrorism cases, and to appropriately handle these cases including by effectively prosecuting persons who are in the leading position of terrorist groups
- (b) sharing knowledge, challenges and good practices on the effective and rehabilitative treatment of youth who were involved in terrorism, as well as measures to prevent their reoffending

Key Topics of the Program

- (1) Overview of recent trends of terrorism and related offenses
- (2) Barriers, challenges and possible solutions to the investigation and prosecution of terrorism cases involving youth
- (3) Measures to obtain statements and testimonies from youth involved in terrorism cases
- (4) Effective and rehabilitative treatment by relevant institutions and society for youth involved in terrorism
- (5) Measures to secure appropriate prison management for youth involved in terrorism
- (6) Other measures to prevent reoffending of youth involved in terrorism

When writing your papers, your adherence to our format and style requirements is greatly appreciated.

By submitting your paper to UNAFEI for publication, you represent that you are the paper's sole author and that all text requiring quotation or citation has been properly attributed to its source. Further, you authorize UNAFEI to edit your paper so that it conforms to the format, style and usage set forth herein.

A. Visiting Experts

The papers of all visiting experts are published in the RMS, which is printed and accessible online. Please submit each paper in electronic format (MS Word) as directed by UNAFEI. When preparing your paper, please use the format, style and usage criteria set forth below.

B. Individual Presentation Papers (Participants)

Selected Individual Presentation papers of some participants and all reports of the Group Workshops prepared by the participants at UNAFEI are published in the RMS. For a paper to be published, it must meet the format, style and usage criteria set forth below. Please submit each paper in electronic format (MS Word) as directed by UNAFEI. Papers that do not comply with the publication criteria may be returned to you for revision.

II. HOUSE STYLE FOR PUBLICATION

As an institute affiliated with the United Nations, UNAFEI has adopted the United Nations Editorial Manual Online (the “UN Manual”) as its primary source for grammar, spelling, usage and style for our English-language publications.<sup>3</sup> For supplemental guidance on spelling, use of italics etc., consult the Concise Oxford English Dictionary, Twelfth Ed., or any subsequent edition thereof. If there is a conflict between the UN Manual or any other sources, this memorandum shall supersede all other authorities solely to the extent that they are applied to UNAFEI’s publications. Please direct any questions regarding this memorandum to Tom Schmid, UNAFEI’s Linguistic Adviser, at tom@unafei.com.

A. Format

- Cover pages and indexes: not required and will not generally be published in the RMS.
- Spacing: submit your papers in single-space format (not double-spaced).
- Title of your paper: full capital letters, Times New Roman type, 14-point font.
- Main text and headings: Times New Roman type, 12-point font. UNAFEI’s publications are generally printed in black and white, although some graphics (charts and other visual aids) may be printed in colour on a case-by-case basis.
- Footnotes: Times New Roman type, 10-point font.
- Margins: set top, bottom, left and right margins at 25.4 mm, or 1 inch.
- Indentation and paragraph spacing: Indent the first line of each paragraph of main body text, and place of one line between paragraphs of text.
- Enumerated lists and bullet points: To make a series of points in text, please use either Roman numerals, e.g. (i), (ii), (iii), etc., or bullet points (this • symbol).
- Headings: Format as indicated in Appendix A below.
- Block quotations: (quotations exceeding 49 words in length) should be indented 25.4 mm from the left and right margins. The text should be single spaced, and do not use quotation marks. Please cite your authority using a footnote or string citation (legal).
- Appendices: Place appended material at the end of your paper; separate appendices should be alphabetized, e.g. Appendix A, Appendix B, etc., and formatted in the same style as the headings and text of your paper.

B. Style and Usage

- Titles of works should appear in italics and should use the full title upon first mention, i.e. International Criminal Law Review not “ICLR”. Subsequent reference may be abbreviated.
- Italics should be used for Latin or other foreign language quotations that have not been adopted into the English language (consult the Oxford English Dictionary). Well-known and common expressions, such as ad hoc, a priori, de facto, ibid., and inter alia, should be left in normal font type, whereas actus reus, ex officio, infra, mens rea, mutatis mutandis and supra should be italicized.
- Italics may be used for emphasis. Please do not underline or use bold in the text.
- All papers must be spell checked and should be edited and proofread by the author before submission.
- Wherever possible, please use gender-neutral language. Use of “his or her”, “their”, etc. is preferred. This is a policy of UNAFEI and the United Nations.
- Quotations: Following the American style, quotations must be marked by double marks “ ” and are not indented; when a sub-quote appears within a quote, use single marks ‘ ’ to identify the sub-quote. Alternate quotation marks in the aforementioned order if further sub-quotes are necessary.
- Commas: UN practice is to avoid the serial comma unless it is necessary to provide clarity. Proper usage is as follows: “The report addressed A, B and C.” No comma appears after B. However, add a comma if it helps the reader or is necessary for clarity: “Reports were presented by countries A and B, C and D, and E and F.”

C. Spelling and Hyphenation

Please use British English in accordance with United Nations’ practice. However, British English diverges on certain spellings (z v. s) and on the hyphenation of prefix-formed compounds (cooperate v. co-operate). The following rules are intended to provide guidance on UN spelling conventions. See the UN Manual for more information.

- Generally, UN style prefers z to s. For example, organization, not organisation; summarize, not summarise. However, exceptions include analyse instead of analyze. Note that some words can only be spelled with an s, such as advertise.
- Learned, not learnt; spelled, not spelt.
- Programme, not program (Br. English v. Am. English).
- Centre, not center (Br. English v. Am. English).
- Behaviour, not behavior; colour, not color (Br. English v. Am. English).

- Prefix-Formed Hyphenated Compounds: UN style prefers closing some compounds formed by prefixes (i.e. cooperate instead of co-operate) while hyphenating others (i.e. re-examine instead of reexamine). Please consult the UN Manual for guidance.
- Other Hyphenated Compounds: Compound adjectives should be hyphenated if doing so avoids confusion: short-term allowance or English-speaking people (people who speak English as opposed to English people who can speak). Also, use double hyphenation for anti-money-laundering measures as anti-money does not exist.

JICA and Capacity Development

Technical cooperation is people-to-people cooperation that supports partner countries in enhancing their comprehensive capacities to address development challenges by their own efforts. Instead of applying Japanese technology per se to partner countries, JICA's technical cooperation provides solutions that best fit their needs by working with people living there. In the process, consideration is given to factors such as their regional characteristics, historical background, and languages. JICA does not limit its technical cooperation to human resources development; it offers multi-tiered assistance that also involves organizational strengthening, policy formulation, and institution building.

Implementation methods of JICA's technical cooperation can be divided into two approaches. One is overseas cooperation by dispatching experts and volunteers in various development sectors to partner countries; the other is domestic cooperation by inviting participants from developing countries to Japan. The latter method is the Knowledge Co-Creation Program, formerly called Training Program, and it is one of the core programs carried out in Japan. By inviting officials from partner countries and with cooperation from domestic partners, the Knowledge Co-Creation Program provides technical knowledge and practical solutions for development issues in participating countries.

The Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus) has long occupied an important place in JICA operations. About 400 pre-organized courses cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs is being customized by the different target organizations to address the specific needs, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan, as the first non-Western nation to become a developed country, built itself into a country that is free, peaceful, prosperous and democratic while preserving its tradition. Japan will serve as one of the best examples for our partner countries to follow in their own development.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from a process of adoption and adaptation, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories.

Through Japan's progressive adaptation and application of systems, methods and technologies from the West in a way that is suited to its own circumstances, Japan has developed a storehouse of knowledge not found elsewhere from unique systems of organization, administration and personnel management to such social systems as the livelihood improvement approach and governmental organization. It is not easy to apply such experiences to other countries where the circumstances differ, but the experiences can provide ideas and clues useful when devising measures to solve problems.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.

About UNAFEI

The United Nations Asia and Far East Institute for the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders (UNAFEI) is a United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Program Network institute. UNAFEI was established in 1962 by agreement between the United Nations and the Government of Japan, with the aim of promoting the sound development of criminal justice systems and mutual cooperation in Asia and the Pacific Region. UNAFEI activities include training courses and seminars for personnel in crime prevention and criminal justice administration, and the research and study of crime prevention and the treatment of offenders. It also conducts special seminars outside of Japan.

UNAFEI annually organizes three international training courses and one international seminar. Participants represent various regions of the world such as Asia, the Pacific, Africa and Latin America. These programs contribute significantly to the training of personnel in criminal justice, and to providing ideas and knowledge for effective measures to combat crime in developing nations. For more than 60 years, UNAFEI's efforts in training personnel have helped those individuals play leading roles in the criminal justice administration of their respective countries.
