Mr. YAMANO Akitsugu, who has been sent to the National Polytechnic Institution of Cambodia (NPIC) as a JICA volunteer, comes with 30 years of professional experience of in welding. Mr. YAMANO felt during his work at NPIC that the teachers and the students are very talented but experience is insufficient due to the limited welding training time. Mr. YAMANO therefore strongly advocated for the allocation of more practical sessions to the students and also to the teachers, and negotiated with the school management to provide necessary equipment. Now his students are training with passion to improve their welding technique to the international standard, and plan to participate in the ASEAN Students Skills Competition in welding techniques.
