
We have equalized the ratings on JICA with those on Japan (AA-/Negative/A-1+), based on the agency's critical role in public policy and its integral link to the government. We consider JICA to be the primary governmental institution tasked with extending financial and nonfinancial facilities to promote and support the government of Japan's diplomatic policy objectives, such as cooperation with the multilateral developmental strategy "Millennium Development Goals" and making contributions to international efforts to protect the environment.
