

Part 2 Evaluation Reports

Chapter 1 Evaluation by Theme

Introduction of Third-party Evaluators

Philippines
Agrarian Reform Infrastructure Support Project

Bangladesh
Rural Development Credit Project (Grameen Bank)

Irrigation Project Re-evaluation
(5 Countries / 8 Projects)

Introduction of Third-party Evaluators

(1) Philippines: Agrarian Reform Infrastructure Support Project

Katsumi Nozawa

Graduated from Chuo University, Dept. of Economics. Posted as a guest research fellow to the School of Business Administration and subsequently to the School of Economics, University of the Philippines, dispatched from the Institute of Developing Economies. Currently holds the position of Professor, Faculty of International Relations, Asia University. Specializes in international development and agricultural development theory. Has been engaged in extensive field researches and evaluation operations with regard to agriculture and rural development in the Philippines.

Specializes in international development and agricultural development theory. Has been engaged in extensive field researches and evaluation operations with regard to agriculture and rural development in the Philippines.

(2) Bangladesh: Rural Development Credit Program (Grameen Bank)

Masaaki Ohashi

Graduated from Waseda University, School of Political Science and Economics, and obtained a Master's degree from Cornell University, International Agriculture and Agricultural Development Program. Currently serves as an associate professor of international development studies at Keisen University. Specializes in international agriculture and rural development. Serves as an officer for several NGOs, and in the capacity of Secretary General for the NPO Shapla Neer (Citizens' Committee in Japan for Overseas Support).

Specializes in international agriculture and rural development. Serves as an officer for several NGOs, and in the capacity of Secretary General for the NPO Shapla Neer (Citizens' Committee in Japan for Overseas Support).

Makoto Nagahata

Graduated from the University of Tokyo, Faculty of Law, and obtained a Master's degree in international relations theory from Sophia University. Formerly served as Director of Overseas Project Division for the NPO Shapla Neer (Citizens' Committee in Japan for Overseas Support). Possesses extensive experience in rural development and alleviation of poverty, including comprehensive rural development project planning and operations while posted to Dhaka with Shapla Neer.

Possesses extensive experience in rural development and alleviation of poverty, including comprehensive rural development project planning and operations while posted to Dhaka with Shapla Neer.

(3) Irrigation Project Re-evaluation

Kunio Takase

Graduated from Kyoto University, Faculty of Agriculture, Agricultural Engineering Dept., and obtained a doctorate of Agricultural Science from the same institution. Currently serves as a consultant at the International Development Center of Japan (IDCJ). Specializes in rural development and environmental issues. Has engaged in numerous field researches and evaluation activities of projects on the subjects of irrigation and agricultural engineering.

Has engaged in numerous field researches and evaluation activities of projects on the subjects of irrigation and agricultural engineering.

Ayako Honda

Graduated from Sophia University, Dept. of Literature, Faculty of Sociology.

Obtained a Master's degree in cultural anthropology from the Xavier University's Research Institute for Mindanao Culture, and a second master's degree in community health from the Graduate School of Medicine, University of Tokyo. Currently serves as a researcher at the International Development Center of Japan (IDCJ). Specializes in social development, medical economics, and public health administration.

Currently serves as a researcher at the International Development Center of Japan (IDCJ). Specializes in social development, medical economics, and public health administration.

Yukihiro Terada

Graduated from Keio University, Dept. of Economics, and obtained a Master's degree in management from the F. W. Olin Graduate School of Business at Babson College. Currently serves in the capacity of researcher for the International Development Center of Japan (IDCJ). Specializes in evaluation analysis, business management, and finance administration, and has engaged in research on evaluation methodology at both the policy and program levels.

and has engaged in research on evaluation methodology at both the policy and program levels.

Kaneyasu Ida

Graduated from the Tokyo University of Foreign Studies, Faculty of Foreign Studies, Dept. of Indo-China, and subsequently University of Ottawa, Graduate School, Faculty of International Development Cooperation. Currently serves in the capacity of researcher, IC Net, Ltd. Specializes in social development and participatory-approach survey methodology. Has been engaged in the planning, research, and evaluation of a number of participatory-approach projects, particularly in the Southeast Asian region.

Has been engaged in the planning, research, and evaluation of a number of participatory-approach projects, particularly in the Southeast Asian region.