

Project for Strengthening the Capacity of Education Research and Evaluation for Improvement of Education Quality in the Republic of Uzbekistan (Technical Cooperation)

PROJECT OVERVIEW

The project supports education reforms in Uzbekistan by strengthening evidence-based policy development through improved education research and evaluation. It focuses on enhancing the PDCA cycle in education, particularly the “Check” and “Act” stages, through field-based research at school and classroom levels, including lesson observations and learning assessments.

PROJECT OBJECTIVE

The project aims to strengthen the capacity of conducting education research and evaluation that generates evidence on classroom practices, student learning outcomes, and factors influencing education quality. The findings are intended to support continuous improvement of education policies, curriculum reform, teacher training systems, and overall education quality in Uzbekistan.
