

Recruiting and Training Human Resources for International Cooperation

With major changes in the international community, aid needs are becoming increasingly more complex and diverse all the time. JICA has been undertaking a variety of programs to secure professionals capable of responding to these ever-changing needs.

Securing Capable Personnel

Experts who will work on the frontline of JICA's various operations are generally selected either by open recruitment via the comprehensive international cooperation career information website called PARTNER (the Participatory Network for Expert Recruitment) or based on recommendations by stakeholder organizations, except for cases in which they are selected based on a consulting-service contract that was publicly bid. JICA is committed to recruiting and assigning suitable experts so as to contribute to better cooperation activities in developing countries. In fiscal 2018, JICA introduced a roster registration system and a batch recruitment system for project formulation advisors responsible for project formulation as well as implementation and management at overseas offices.

In addition, JICA endeavors to secure people who can take on the positions of senior advisers and special advisers, ready to be sent overseas to international cooperation project sites at any time. The former, especially, contribute to the improvement of JICA projects based on their excellent expertise in their respective specialist fields.

Training Human Resources for the Future

1. Internship Program

The Internship program is open primarily to undergraduate and graduate students, adults who will deepen their understanding of international cooperation as well as to develop them as professionals for international cooperation in the future. During fiscal 2018, JICA accepted a total of 101 interns at JICA offices in Japan and abroad and at overseas project sites.

2. Associate Expert Program

This program is designed to train future JICA experts from young professionals who have a certain level of expertise, career, and overseas activity experience in fields where human resources shortages are anticipated in the medium- to long-term. Those who have completed the program are expected to be sent to sites of JICA's overseas operations as JICA experts.

Development of Personnel Ready to Work at Project Sites

JICA offers Capacity Enhancement Training, a program designed to provide information on recent trends in international cooperation, as well as opportunities to acquire expertise to address emerging challenges. In fiscal 2018, JICA offered 22 courses under this program. Of them, four courses—Urban Development and Town Planning, Support for Recovery and Reconstruction

Expansion of HR for International Cooperation

The website PARTNER was designed with the principles of promoting international cooperation activities on an all-Japan basis. PARTNER is a comprehensive platform, providing information concerning a broad range of actors, such as international organizations, development consultants, international cooperation NGOs and NPOs, national and local governments, universities, private companies, as well as JICA. More than 37,000 individuals and over 1,700 organizations are now registered at PARTNER. PARTNER is widely utilized as a common international cooperation platform from which the latest information can be obtained concerning a great number of employment opportunities, training courses, seminars, and various events.

In the PARTNER program, JICA organizes seminars and offers consultations on how to build a global career. In fiscal 2018, seminars for international cooperation human resources were held in Tokyo, Nagoya, and Fukuoka in which various actors and role models in global career development were introduced. Job seminars were also held to provide information on international cooperation jobs. The topics included international organizations, regional revitalization, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and career opportunities for female students in science majors.
