JICA Presents “Jakarta Seminar 2010”: Indonesia’s Development and Indonesia-Japan Partnership

JICA, in cooperation with the Ministry of Finance, Republic of Indonesia, will present a seminar by inviting Indonesian high-level government officials, experts, businessmen, Japanese intellectuals, as well as Jakarta-based international organizations for two days, from September 28 to 29, 2010 in Jakarta. This seminar is the continuation of “Indonesia Seminar 2009,” held in September 2009 in Tokyo, in which similar participants were invited to discuss the political, social, and economic situation of Indonesia as well as the then new administration’s agenda.

Indonesia—with its stable political and social situation—has been able to maintain a high economic growth even amidst the global recession as of the latter half of 2008. Moreover, it has also become a member of the G20, a forum for advanced and emerging economies in the world. Therefore, Indonesia has been steadily increasing its presence on the world stage.

This year’s “Jakarta Seminar 2010” will be conducted after the new administration has gone through its first year, thus the discussions will be focused on the performance as well as new development issues that have risen during the past year and future directions to take for Indonesia to develop even further. The series of discussions is believed to not only benefit Indonesia, but is also considered to further strengthen the partnership between Indonesia and Japan.
