GENERAL INFORMATION ON

Gender and Diversity in Disaster Risk Reduction and Climate Change (In Japan)

課題別研修「ジェンダーと多様性からの災害リスク削減と気候変動」(本邦研修)
JFY 2025

Course No.: 202411506J001

Course Period in Japan: From October 21 to November 14, 2025

This information pertains to one of the JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Programs (Group & Region Focus) of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.

JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Program (KCCP)

The Japanese Cabinet released the Development Cooperation Charter in June 2023, which stated, “In its development cooperation, Japan has maintained the spirit of jointly creating things that suit partner countries while respecting ownership, intentions and intrinsic characteristics of the country concerned based on a field-oriented approach through dialogue and collaboration. It has also maintained the approach of building reciprocal relationships with developing countries in which both sides learn from each other and grow and develop together.” JICA believes that this ‘Knowledge Co-Creation Program’ will serve as a foundation of mutual learning process.

I. Concept

Background

The Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction(2015-2030), adopted at the Third United Nations World Conference on Disaster Risk Reduction held in Sendai in March 2015, outlines the importance of recognizing the needs of various stakeholders in particular women, in disaster risk reduction(DRR). It also mentions that women should have an equal voice and responsibility in policy development and implementation in DRR. The Government of Japan also announced its plan to organize a training program to promote women's leadership in DRR, as part of the Sendai Cooperation Initiative for Disaster Risk Reduction, which was launched by the government of Japan during the Conference. It is, therefore, important to promote women's active and equal participation in DRR and consider their specific needs and interests when developing DRR policies and managing and implementing DRR programs and projects.

The training course on Gender and Diversity in Disaster Risk Reduction and Climate Change provides an opportunity to learn from Japan's experience on disaster prevention and climate change adaptation, emergency responses, recovery and reconstruction, with special consideration to vulnerable groups of people, such as women, children, the elderly, the persons with disabilities, foreign residents and LGBTQIA+. It also aims to share the knowledge and the experiences among participating countries and collaboratively learn and generate effective, equal and meaningful approaches to DRR and climate change with a gender and diversity perspective.

For what?

The participants will share ideas and approaches to gender and diversity in DRR and climate change. Through collaborative learning processes, the course aims to co-create new, effective and transformative approaches to promote women's leadership, in particular, and to generate effective, equal and meaningful approaches to DRR and climate change with a gender and diversity perspective.

For whom?

The participants will be tripartite: i) government officers in charge of DRR or climate change adaptation with a gender and diversity perspective, ii) government officers in charge of promoting gender equality and women's empowerment in the context of DRR or climate change adaptation, and iii) representatives of civil society and non-governmental organizations working for gender equality and women's empowerment in DRR or climate change adaptation.

How?

The training course will be provided by online during quarantine in Tokyo and in Tohoku area. The program covers the experiences of Tokyo and Tohoku area in Japan. Tohoku area was severely damaged by the earthquake and tsunami in March 2011. The participants will have the opportunities to learn from Japan's experience as well as exchange of ideas with local residents in Japan, both national and international experts and participants from other countries.

For Your Reference

JICA and Capacity Development

Technical cooperation is people-to-people cooperation that supports partner countries in enhancing their comprehensive capacities to address development challenges by their own efforts. Instead of applying Japanese technology per se to partner countries, JICA's technical cooperation provides solutions that best fit their needs by working with people living there. In the process, consideration is given to factors such as their regional characteristics, historical background, and languages. JICA does not limit its technical cooperation to human resources development; it offers multi-tiered assistance that also involves organizational strengthening, policy formulation, and institution building.

Implementation methods of JICA's technical cooperation can be divided into two approaches. One is overseas cooperation by dispatching experts and volunteers in various development sectors to partner countries; the other is domestic cooperation by inviting participants from developing countries to Japan. The latter method is the Knowledge Co-Creation Program, formerly called Training Program, and it is one of the core programs carried out in Japan. By inviting officials from partner countries and with cooperation from domestic partners, the Knowledge Co-Creation Program provides technical knowledge and practical solutions for development issues in participating countries.

The Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus) has long occupied an important place in JICA operations. About 400 pre-organized courses cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs is being customized by the different target organizations to address the specific needs, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan, as the first non-Western nation to become a developed country, built itself into a country that is free, peaceful, prosperous and democratic while preserving its tradition. Japan will serve as one of the best examples for our partner countries to follow in their own development.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from a process of adoption and adaptation, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories.

Through Japan's progressive adaptation and application of systems, methods and technologies from the West in a way that is suited to its own circumstances, Japan has developed a storehouse of knowledge not found elsewhere from unique systems of organization, administration and personnel management to such social systems as the livelihood improvement approach and governmental organization. It is not easy to apply such experiences to other countries where the circumstances differ, but the experiences can provide ideas and clues useful when devising measures to solve problems.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.
