JICA holds workshops on metal conservation

JAPAN International Cooperation Agency (JICA) has invited an expert in the field of metal conservation for a five-day workshop in Cairo.

"The main goal of the workshop is to develop the skill of metal conservation for Egyptians as well as presenting the latest developments in this field," the agency has said in a statement.

The workshop allows the local conservators, who came from different museums around Egypt such as the Egyptian Museum, to have a better knowledge about conservation of metals and learn more about materials they can use.

Stavroula Golfomitsou, who has a PhD on conservation of metals, has worked in some excavations in Egypt, Greece and Turkey. He was selected by JICA experts in the Grand Egyptian Museum Project to be the lecturer of this workshop.
