June 2023

International Conference on Agriculture Insurance

The International Conference on Agricultural Insurance was held at BAPPENAS (National Development Planning Agency) on 8 June 2023, and was attended by about 130 participants including online participants. The AIC (ASEAN Insurance Council) co-hosted the conference and introduced Thailand's agricultural insurance through public-private partnerships. The Project implementing agencies and other Indonesian government officials made presentations and the panel discussion was followed by a question-and-answer session with the floor. In the closing remarks, BAPPENAS announced the work on developing an agricultural insurance roadmap and the establishment of the Agricultural Insurance Development Forum.

11th JCC (Joint Coordinating Committee) Meeting

The Project's 11th and last JCC meeting was held on 17 May, 2023. About 40 participants from the counterpart implementing agencies and the Agricultural Department of the pilot district attended the meeting. The main objective is to confirm and agree on items to be followed up by the Indonesian side after the Project is completed. The chairperson, BAPPENAS Deputy Minister Dr. Vivi Yulaswati, mentioned efforts to reflect the Project in the next RPJMN (mid-term national development plan), finalize the Roadmap, and develop and expand paddy crop data using remote sensing technology, aiming to maintain and expand agricultural insurance as a national program. In addition, the budget for annual agricultural insurance training for agricultural extension officers, ways to cooperate with the BPS (Statistics Indonesia) to conduct CCE (Crop Cutting Experiment) for more accurate AYII (Area Yield Index Insurance), and possible review insurance product design was discussed and agreed upon as follow-up items for the future.
