

UN VOLUNTEER DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENT

RWAR000589--Nutrition Sensitive and Market-oriented Agriculture Programme developer

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme is the UN organization that promotes volunteerism to support peace and development worldwide. Volunteerism can transform the pace and nature of development and it benefits both society at large and the individual volunteer. UNV contributes to peace and development by advocating for volunteerism globally, encouraging partners to integrate volunteerism into development programming, and mobilizing volunteers. In most cultures volunteerism is deeply embedded in long-established, ancient traditions of sharing and support within the communities. In this context, UN Volunteers take part in various forms of volunteerism and play a role in development and peace together with co-workers, host agencies and local communities. In all assignments, UN Volunteers promote volunteerism through their action and conduct. Engaging in volunteer activity can effectively and positively enrich their understanding of local and social realities, as well as create a bridge between themselves and the people in their host community. This will make the time they spend as UN Volunteers even more rewarding and productive.

Living Conditions

The Republic of Rwanda is a small landlocked country in the Great Lakes region of east-central Africa, bordered by Uganda, Burundi, the Democratic Republic of Congo and Tanzania. With 12 million people, Rwanda supports the densest population in continental Africa most of whom engages in subsistence agriculture and 40% of the population live below the poverty line. Rwanda is a verdant country of fertile and hilly terrain and bears the title "Land of a Thousand Hills".

Since the devastating 1994 genocide against the Tutsi, Rwanda has emerged as an impressive story of transformation in Africa. Guided by successive national medium-term plans and by comprehensive policy reforms over the last two decades, the country has achieved remarkable socioeconomic progress demonstrated, inter alia, by a more than three-fold increase in per capita gross domestic product (GDP) from $206 in 2002 to $729 in 2016.1 Real GDP growth averaged 8.2 per cent during 2000-2010, and 7.3 per cent for 2010-2016, much higher than the 5.2 per cent average for sub-Saharan Africa.

The principal form of public transport in the country is share taxi, with express routes linking the major cities and local services serving most villages along the main roads of the country.

A valid passport with visa is mandatory. From 1 Jan 2018, Citizens of all countries can get visa upon arrival without prior application. For those who enter from countries with yellow fever cases, a certificate of yellow-fever vaccination is required. COVID-19 test done with 48 hours is also mandatory. Much of Rwanda lies at too high an elevation for malaria to be a major concern, but the disease is present and prophylactic drugs are strongly recommended. It is advisable not to drink tap water. Bottled mineral water can be bought in all towns. Hospitals are in all major towns. There is also the UN Dispensary that can provide 1st aid assistance and guidance.

A combination of tropical location and high altitude ensures that most of Rwanda has a temperate year-round climate. Temperatures rarely stray above 30 degrees Celsius by day or below 15 degrees Celsius at night throughout the year. Throughout the country, seasonal variations in temperature are relatively insignificant. Most parts of the country receive more than 1,000mm of precipitation annually, with the driest months being July to September and the wettest February to May.

The unit of currency is the Rwanda franc. The US dollar is the hard currency of preference, but Euros and Pound can also be easily exchanged. It may be impossible to exchange travellers' cheques away from the capital. Credit cards are accepted in all the major hotels, restaurants, and shops in Kigali.

In addition to Kinyarwanda, French and English are the major spoken languages. Rwanda is a unique country. It provides for an interesting and enriching environment, but also requires a mature level of cultural awareness. Therefore, flexibility and cultural awareness are essential.

Assignment Title

Nutrition Sensitive and Market-oriented Agriculture Programme developer

Organizational Context & Project Description

The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) is a specialized agency of the United Nations that leads international efforts to defeat hunger. FAO goal is to achieve food security for all and make sure that people have regular access to enough high-quality food to lead active, healthy lives. With over 194 member states, FAO works in over 130 countries worldwide. We believe that everyone can play a part in ending hunger.

On-going FAO assistance in Rwanda is shaped by the 2018-2023 Country program Framework, which is centered on the following four priority areas.

Innovative approaches to promote sustainable and integrated Crop, Livestock and Aquaculture production systems promoted; Food security, nutrition and climate and other shocks resilient agriculture improved through sustainable and diversified production systems;

Inclusiveness of agricultural market systems as well as value addition and competitiveness of diversified agricultural commodities in domestic, regional and international markets promoted;

Enhanced enabling environment and responsive institutions for effective and efficient delivery of Services.

The United Nations in Rwanda and in DRC have received Funds from the UN Secretary General's Peacebuilding Fund (PBF) to implement the 2 years (July 2020 - June 2022) UN joint project "Creating peace dividends for women and youth through increased cross-border trade and strengthened food security". This cross-border project aims to contribute to peacebuilding and social cohesion in the DRC-Rwanda border areas around Goma and Rubavu by deepening economic integration through increased cross-border trade, fostering mutual understanding and dialogue between border communities and strengthening food security livelihood and income opportunities, particularly for women and youth.

Activities under the second output of the project is mainly implemented by FAO and WFP. FAO collaborates with MINAGRI and covers aspects of agriculture production, food security and market linkage. In addition, the three UN agencies involved UNDP, WFP and FAO carry out some joint field work to avoid duplicating their efforts. The UNV will support the implementation of ongoing peacebuilding Joint Programme between FAO and other UN Agencies in Rwanda and Democratic Republic of Congo.

The UNV will contribute to the following FAO activities described in the Joint Programme:

Connecting small holder farmers and cross-border traders through joint trainings and workshops;

Supporting farmer organizations to strengthen organizational and governance

Facilitating negotiations between smallholder farmers and landlords in DRC to promote more equitable and affordable access to arable land;

Supporting smallholder farmers traders on both sides of the border, with specific focus on youth and women, to access market information;
Establishing cross-border networks for young smallholder farmers engaged in horticulture, potatoes and beans value chains to improve quality and quantity of produce and strengthen Cross border trading links.

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme is administered by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

Conditions of Service for International Specialist:

Note on novel coronavirus – COVID-19.

The rapidly changing nature of novel coronavirus COVID-19 has placed significant and increasing restrictions on the freedom of movement of people across the globe, within countries and across borders. Such restrictions make it very difficult for international UN Volunteers to begin their assignments at their assigned duty station and UNV cannot guarantee assignments will proceed as normal.

Candidates for international UN Volunteer assignments during this period may be exceptionally granted alternative working arrangements to work from their place of recruitment until restrictions are lifted. This is at the discretion of the host entity. Candidates proceeding to interview are recommended to discuss the likelihood of travel and possible alternative arrangements with the host entity. If selected, candidates should carefully consider the circumstances before accepting UNV's offer.

In cases where the UN Host Entity partner has requested the UN Volunteer to perform their assignment remotely, the Post Adjustment Multiplier (PAM) and related entitlements to be paid may be adjusted to the temporary duty station from where the UN Volunteer has been requested to work if requested by the UN Host Entity.

The contract lasts for the period indicated above with possibility of extensions subject to availability of funding, operational necessity and satisfactory performance. However, there is no expectation of renewal of the assignment.

A UN Volunteer receives a Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) which is composed of the Monthly Living Allowance (MLA) and a Family Allowance (FA) for those with dependents (maximum three).

The Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) is paid at the end of each month to cover housing, utilities, transportation, communications and other basic needs. The VLA can be computed by applying the Post-Adjustment Multiplier (PAM) to the VLA base rate of US$ 1,682. The VLA base rate is a global rate across the world, while the PAM is duty station/country-specific and fluctuates on a monthly basis according to the cost of living. This method ensures that international UN Volunteers have comparable purchasing power at all duty stations irrespective of varying costs of living. The PAM is established by the International Civil Service Commission (ICSC) and is published at the beginning of every month on the ICSC website <http://icsc.un.org>.

For UN Volunteer entitlements, kindly refer to the link <https://vmam.unv.org/calculator/entitlements>

In non-family duty stations that belong to hardship categories D or E, as classified by the ICSC, international UN Volunteers receive a Well-Being Differential (WBD) on a monthly basis.

Furthermore, UN Volunteers are provided a settling-in-grant (SIG) at the start of the assignment (if the volunteer did not reside in the duty station for at least 6 months prior to taking up the assignment) and in the event of a permanent reassignment to another duty station.

UNV provides life, health, permanent disability insurances as well as assignment travel, annual leave, full integration in the UN security framework (including residential security reimbursements).

UN Volunteers are paid Daily Subsistence Allowance at the UN rate for official travels, flight tickets for periodic home visit and for the final repatriation travel (if applicable). Resettlement allowance is paid for satisfactory service at the end of the assignment.

UNV will provide, together with the offer of assignment, a copy of the Conditions of Service, including Code of conduct, to the successful candidate.

Supervision, induction and duty of care of UN Volunteers (Roles and Responsibilities of Host Entity)

UN Volunteers should be provided equal duty of care as extended to all host entity personnel. Host entity support to the UN Volunteer includes, but is not limited to:

- Introductory briefings about the organisation and office-related context including security, emergency procedures, good cultural practice and orientation to the local environment;
- Support with arrival administration including setting-up of bank accounts, residence permit applications and completion of other official processes as required by the host government or host entity;
- Structured guidance, mentoring and coaching by a supervisor including a clear workplan and performance appraisal;
- Access to office space, equipment, IT support and any other systems and tools required to complete the objectives of the assignment including a host entity email address;
- Access to shared host entity corporate knowledge, training and learning;
- Inclusion of the volunteer in emergency procedures such as evacuations;
- Leave management;
- DSA for official travel, when applicable;
- All changes in the Description of Assignment occurring between recruitment and arrival or during the assignment need to be formalized with the United Nations Volunteer Programme;
- Investigate misconduct: sharing reports with the UNV;
- Provide emergency assistance, e.g. the death of volunteer or medical evacuation, in collaboration with UNV. Accept letters of guarantees or potential liabilities for covering medical costs not claimable under medical insurance in extraordinary situations (e.g. isolation facilities' services during pandemics).
